Article 1 — Website terms of use

1.1 In the current phase S.T.A.R. sells nothing and offers no service on request: everything on this site is free, and the engineering assessment and the paid work this document describes are not offered. This document stays as written until a lawyer or Andrea reviews it.

Article 2 — Who runs this website

2.1 This website is published by Andrea Cavazzini, a private individual resident in Italy, who develops S.T.A.R. as an independent project. S.T.A.R. is not, at this date, a company or a registered business. Contact: Info.and.News.S.T.A.R@proton.me.

Article 3 — What the website is

3.1 An information site about the S.T.A.R. software packages, the published verification evidence and the engineering assessment service that can be requested by email, with free tools that run in your browser (the Workspace). Nothing can be bought on the website and no account can be created.

3.2 The Workspace tools are free. What you type or open in them is processed on your device and is not sent to the owner; each result comes with a receipt that states the checks made and their limits.

3.3 Anyone may browse the website. Under 14, write to the owner with a parent or guardian, as a precaution; requesting a paid service or signing a contract requires being an adult (see minimum age). How paid work is agreed and invoiced is described in payments and invoicing.

Article 4 — Use of the content

4.1
- The software packages are distributed under the Apache License 2.0, as stated in each package; their use is governed by that licence, not by these terms.
- Texts, page layout and graphics of the website remain the property of the owner. You may quote them with attribution and a link.
- The S.T.A.R. name and logo may not be used to suggest endorsement or affiliation (see the trademark and attribution policy).

Article 5 — No professional advice, no certification

5.1 Technical information on this website describes what was tested, with which inputs and limits. It is not a certification, a qualification for flight or a guarantee that any software is free of defects. See the evidence and verification disclaimer.

5.2 The Workspace tools check form and arithmetic (for example the check character of a tax code, the check digits of an IBAN or a count of working days). They do not replace the official services — such as the Agenzia delle Entrate, the VIES service or your bank — nor legal or tax advice; the receipt of each result says what it cannot show.

Article 6 — Availability and external links

6.1 The website may change or be unavailable at any time. Links to third-party sites (for example GitHub) are provided for convenience; their owners are responsible for their content and their own terms.

Article 7 — Acceptable use

7.1 Do not attempt to disrupt the website, to access systems you are not authorised to access, or to use the contact address for unsolicited advertising. Security research is welcome under the vulnerability disclosure policy.

Article 8 — Liability

8.1 To the extent permitted by law, the owner is not liable for losses arising from the use of the free information and software on this website. This never excludes liability for wilful misconduct or gross negligence (Italian Civil Code, art. 1229), nor any right that cannot be limited under Italian or European law, including the rights of consumers.

Article 9 — Changes and law

9.1 These terms may be updated; the version and date above identify the current text. Italian law applies; for consumers, the court of their place of residence is competent and the mandatory protections of their country of residence remain.
